

READY FOR FALL.

Tailored Suit For
the First Cool Days.

TALLORED SUIT OF RAVEN'S WING BLUE.

Cobean, or raven's wing blue, is going to be the smart color for tailored suits in the fall. This shade is a navy blue so dark that it is almost black.

The natty little suit illustrated is developed in raven's wing blue broadcloth. The skirt is narrow, but there is no suggestion of the erstwhile hobble in its lines. A panel effect is given the front width and there are scant inverted box plaits at the sides and in the back that are stitched and pressed flatly within a foot of the edge of the skirt.

The hip length coat has a surprised collar of black velvet and black and white pin dotted silk. The cuffs are ornamented with the same materials. A handsome ornament of black silk passementerie fastens the coat at the waist line.

Ingenious Hostess.

The hostess who has experienced the confusion of seating a large number of guests at small tables will appreciate the device of one woman who accomplished it gracefully.

The guests were to be seated in several rooms at tables holding six and four. The hostess made an alphabet list of guests and hung it in the hall. Opposite the name of each woman was the number of the table and the room in which it was set. On the tables, which each had its separate floral piece, was a number cut from gilt paper and placed in the center of flowers so it could be quickly seen. Place cards were used, as at an ordinary luncheon.

Advanced Styles In Fall Hats.

Here are two of the advanced fall hats. As you see, the shapes continue close fitting, as were the summer models. One of the hats illustrated is a very close fitting poke, plainly covered with dark green velvet and trimmed with long pointed wings extending high at the back. A band of ribbon and a bow are placed at each side.

Designed by Ora Cne.

TWO VERY SMART MODELS.

An extremely cone shaped crown is exploited in the second model, which is simply draped in Bengaline silk and has a smooth covered brim of the same silk. A large wing of black and white, pointing high in the air, decorates the back of the chapeau.

KICKED

In The Face By A Horse
Was Young Boy

And Lay Unconscious Under
The Horse's Feet

Howard, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, residing about one mile north of Greenville, was very badly injured as a result of being kicked by a horse on Wednesday evening. At about 5 o'clock the boy was working about the barn and was behind one of the horses, which was standing in a stall, when it kicked suddenly backward, striking him squarely in the face. The sharp iron shoe on the horse's foot struck the bridge of the boy's nose, crushing the bone and splintering the nose the entire length.

Being knocked unconscious, Master Howard was unable to summon assistance and laid almost under the horse's feet until he was discovered by his mother who carried him to the house and called Dr. J. A. Reed of Jelloway who rendered surgical attention. Although the boy may be somewhat disfigured as a result of his misfortune, the result is not expected to be serious.

BOXER

Who Was In This City Wednesday Evening

Is Of A Very Charitable Disposition

Johnny Albanese, the little featherweight boxer, who gave an exhibition bout in this city Wednesday evening, is not only a wonderful fighter and ring general, but is of a very charitable disposition. Several weeks ago he went in the ring at Pittsburgh, Pa., with a fighter of that place and boxed ten rounds. At the conclusion of the bout he turned his end of the purse over to the Babies' Fresh Air Fund and refused to keep any of the money. This won the hearts of the Pittsburgh fans and as a result, Johnny received a telegram from that city Wednesday afternoon inviting him to come and stay two weeks at the baby camp and give exhibitions. He will probably accept the invitation.

Albanese is very young yet for a fighter and should he improve steadily for two years he will be one of the best featherweights in the country. At present he is able to cope with most of them, having fought to a decision with Johnny Conlon a few weeks ago. He only weighs 116 pounds, but has an excellent punch in either hand.

SPIRITUAL

Interest On The Increase At Camp Sychar

Friday To Be Observed As
W. C. T. U. Day

Spiritual interest is on the increase at Camp Sychar as indicated at the services and the religious enthusiasm manifested. It is noticeable this year that all the services are well attended.

Friday will be observed as W. C. T. U. day on the grounds and Mrs. Trego will speak in the auditorium at 1 p. m. to the W. C. T. U. members of Knox county.

Arrangements are being made for the Sunday services. There will be the usual number of sermons in the auditorium and overflow meetings will be held about the grounds.

Used The Wrong Kind Of Mouth Wash

Professor A. R. Bacon, residing in South Mt. Vernon, was the victim of an unfortunate accident on Wednesday evening. He went into the bath room at his home in search of a mouth wash and by mistake used the contents of an ammonia bottle. As a result, the inside of his mouth was very painfully burned. Dr. C. K. Conard was called in attendance.

CHURCH NOTE

Rev. S. S. Fleming will preach at the Greer Methodist Protestant church Sabbath, Aug. 13, morning and evening. In the evening he will preach his farewell sermon, as that service will close his pastorate of the M. P. church, and his conference meets two weeks earlier than the Muskingum conference in which the church is located. The Greer church will most likely become a part of the Butler circuit, as it was before the division was made.
